Select- Stoboscope is a compact wall mounted application with telescopic arm technology (gas pressure cylinder) for constant tensioning of the fabric at any position. The framework construction includes a hidden triangular torsion mounting bar and optional hood and side covers.

The Select family of retractable awnings is based on proven triangular torsion mounting bar technology. This design is combined with universal mounting brackets that enable wall or soffit installations even in restricted spaces. All Select models also have a convenient pitch adjustment.

An optional drop down retractable valances down to 8' for additional low angle sun protection and privacy is available at extra cost.

Automated motors and electronic comfort controls are available.

See Select system for standard open roller folding arm applications
See Select Plus for applications requiring long projection with narrow width.
